Future Fund appoints Cameron Price as General Counsel

The Future Fund has appointed Cameron Price to the role of General Counsel.

Cameron will join the Future Fund at the end of March 2014 from Allens where he is a corporate and commercial partner. He has 25 years of experience in corporations, securities and commercial law, with particular expertise in mergers and acquisitions, private equity, equity capital markets, and corporate governance.

Mr Mark Burgess, Managing Director of the Future Fund said: "We're delighted to have Cameron join the Future Fund team. As General Counsel he will be heavily focused on providing strategic legal advice to the Board of Guardians and will also bring his expertise, skill and leadership to supporting the wider legal team and broader organisation."
